HOAGLAND'S NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,

Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. B. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO MAY 24.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Reports on the contested elections were made in favor of Strader, of Ohio, and Adams, of Kentucky. Both are now sitting members.

In the House, Sargent presented a memorial of citizens of Eureka, California, praying that that place be made a port of entry and delivery.

The resolution of inquiry into the state of trade with the British provinces was rejected.

A bill passed exempting vessels engaged in internal and coastwise navigation and fisheries from paying tonnage dues.

The army appropriation bill was reported and made the special order for Wednesday. It appropriates nearly thirty millions.

The Louisiana contested election case was finally decided in favor of Newsham, who took the oath.

The Fenians—A General Movement on Foot.

CINCINNATI, May 23.—It is rumored here that a party of fifty Fenians leave the city to-night for Rouse's Point, to join O'Neil. At a meeting at the Fenian armory last night, an unsuccessful effort was made to raise funds. Fitzgerald predicted it would end in a miserable fiasco and tend to rivet the chains of Ireland rather than weaken them.

NEW YORK, May 23.—It is rumored that twenty three thousand Fenians left Brooklyn to-night for Canada. Others in small numbers are reported this morning from Albany, Rochester and Auburn.

MONTPELIER, May 23.—Two companies were shipped from Burlington to-day for the frontier and another large body are en route by boat from Plattsburg. All the double teams in St. Albans and Burlington are engaged for use to-night.

BUFFALO, May 23.—More Fenians are afoot to-night. Large bodies of drilled veterans have left home, but whether to aid Reill or invade the neighboring frontier is unknown.

BUFFALO, May 23.—The city is full of Fenians quartered among their friends in every part of the city. No indications of a further move to-night.

POUGHKEEPSIE, May 24.—Three car loads of Irishmen passed here on the Hudson River Railroad last night at midnight. All purchased tickets over the Saratoga Railroad. They were all unarmed, and supposed to be Fenians.

RUTLAND, Vt., May 24.—The town is all excitement over the projected Fenian raid on Canada. The excitement is greater than at any time since 1866. The Irish in the various portions of the State are active and proceeding in large numbers to St. Albans, where their numbers are augmented by hundreds from the East and the West, especially from the towns along Lake Champlain. A company passed here last night en route for St. Albans from Washington, Warren and Rensselaer counties, New York. More are expected to-day. A company is going from here. Large numbers of men go up Lake Champlain to land at St. Albans Bay, to be joined by others from Rouse's Point.

MONTPELIER, Vt., May 24.—The Fenians are in active motion along the line. Large numbers of men from Boston, Concord, Manchester, and other points are awaiting transportation.

ST. ALBANS, May 24.—Reliable reports state that several teams loaded with Irishmen are on the road toward the line. A company arrived from Burlington last night and have started for Fairfield. The steamer Curlew has been chartered to bring men from Fort Henry. No Government troops nor militia here.

CHICAGO, May 24.—The Times' Washington special says Gen. Marston, of New Hampshire, has been appointed Governor of Idaho by the President.

Miscellaneous.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The British Minister is to be asked to arbitrate between the United States and Brazil in the claim for indemnity for the seizure of the whale ship Canada by the latter many years ago.

The Spanish Government have agreed to arbitrate the case of the steamer Lloyd Aspinwall.

It is reported the President will appoint General Gilman Marston, of New Hampshire, Governor of Idaho.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—The Trustees of Mechanic's Institute last evening nominated the following ticket for Trustees to be supported at the election on the first Monday in June: A. S. Hallidie, Chas. H. Hoppe, Howard Chapman, Chas. R. Stigh, A. D. McDonald, Sam'l H. Harman, J. H. Culver, J. Q. Hanscom, Robert Hall, James Mellett, George Purdy, Warren F. Williams, Josiah Moulton and L. E. Beachley.

In Board of Supervisors the franchise of Chas. D. Carter and others for a railroad from Mission and Twenty-sixth streets to the San Mateo finally passed by a unanimous vote. An order granting the Sutter street railroad, was passed to print. The Auditor having returned the bill of Patrick Creighton, Patrick Donahue and James Brennan, for $33,931 57 for street work done some years since, the claims having been allowed by the Board under the act of the Legislature, passed March 11th, a resolution was introduced authorizing the payment and cost. The object of this was to contest their demands in the courts.

Gen. Giles A. Smith, Assistant Postmaster General, is examining mail matters at San Jose and other towns in that vicinity.

Gen. Mandeville the newly appointed Immigrant Commissioner, has decided not to contest the right of Dunn to hold the office through the courts, as first intended, and has forwarded his resignation to the Governor. It is said that Snell will be appointed in his place.

The armless man, dressed in new U. S. Naval uniform, with a hand organ decorated with flags run by boy power, who has been reaping a rich harvest from charitable ones on Montgomery street for the past two weeks, turns out to be impostor, having lost his arms by the explosion of a cannon, corner of Third and Harrison streets, in May, 1856.

The young girl found insensible on the street last night has so far recovered as to be able to tell her story. It appears that herself and mother had been keeping boarding house in San Jose. Being unsuccessful and becoming involved in debt she came here last week to obtain employment, but could get none; she had no friends and in desperation bought poison and swallowed it, intending to die. It is thought she will recover and will be well cared for hereafter. Her name is Nellie Cashmer. The suspicion that she had been the victim of outrage is not justified.

The old Merchants' Exchange building has been divided and the southern portion rented to Government for the use of the Internal Revenue Department. The Collector will remove his office to the new quarter June 1st.

John Savage, the Fenian, received an ovation at the Lick House last evening.

The California steamer which left New York on the ...th of May, had about four hundred tons of freight for this port: 1,500 boxes candles, 425 tons paper, 270 bills wire, 200 pkgs drugs and paints—hardware, boots and shoes, clothing, dry goods machinery groceries, tobacco, &c., for Gross A..., and 120 pkgs books, candle and dry goods for China.

A case of suspected suspended animation occurred in the western part of the city last night. An old lady died suddenly and the body two days afterwards appeared life like, and seemed to retain animation ... It was placed in a vault on Lone Mountain still retaining a remarkable appearance.

An entire car load of perfumeries are among the novelties which arrived from New York to-day.

The British Benevolent Society has every seat occupied at the Banquet at the Lick House this evening.

The schooner Nonway left here April 28th, discharged freight at Port Townsend, thence to Seattle, May 6th, eight days from San Francisco, thence to Tacoma, where she loaded 350,000 feet of lumber, and returned here to-day, having made the round trip in 26 days, the shortest but one on record.

Robert Gilman, aged ten years, while playing "Old Rice," at the warehouse corner of Davis and Vallejo streets, fell and broke his arm in two places.

Mining Stocks.

Mining stocks broke to a lower figure than ever before. At the evening board, Treasure, $20½; Wave, $5; Mammoth, $12; Noonday, 31; Wedge, $21; Amador, $200; Yellow Jacket, $24½; Belcher, $19; Overman, $24; Curry, $120; Belcher, $6; Ophir, $158; Imperial, $28; Bryan, $31; Daney, $64; Kentuck, $51; Chollar, 29½; Savage, $52; Nevada, $7½. No sales of Norcross or Point.

THE WEST.

It is reported that a "straight out" Democratic newspaper is to be started at Sacramento, with $25,000 joint stock capital.

Bill Bird, the colored Democratic candidate for Mayor of Virginia City, was hung in effigy on the 9th inst., by the colored citizens of that place.

There is on exhibition at Virginia, Nevada, a piece of horn silver ore taken from the famous Eberhardt mine, White Pine, which weighs between eight and nine pounds, and is pure horn silver. It is perfectly malleable, and can be sawed up like so much lead.

The Oakland News of the 14th inst., has the annexed: It was generally supposed that there had been rain enough in this vicinity to bring out a good crop of most everything; but in conversation with Waring, of the Piedmont farm, yesterday, we learn that the valley and foothills north, south and east of Oakland are going to produce but little more than half a crop of barley, perhaps, and wheat is not thought of. He says grain that was sown early will come out pretty well, but the remainder is going to be hardly worth talking about. The late hot spell cooked the goose, and there is no use crying over spilt milk.

The Stockton Republican of the 11th says: "We regret the necessity for announcing that all hopes for even an ordinary crop of grain this season in the San Joaquin valley is at an end. From all sources the most discouraging reports are received. A drouth more disastrous in its effect than any since 1864, is upon us, and the result is an almost total failure of the grain crops. Throughout this country an average of less than a fourth of the ordinary yield of wheat is a foregone conclusion. On the western side of the river the failure is complete; generally speaking, the entire crop is lost. Farther up the valley reports are most discouraging. Grain will only be raised in the smallest quantities on the low damp ground and in small sections susceptible of irrigation. From the counties farther south, the effect of the dry weather is seriously felt, although in Tulare and Kern counties considerable rain fell a few days ago. From every direction the universal complaint is drouth and failure of crops."

The Corinne Reporter of April 23d says: "Within a few days several parties have arrived from Snake River, making large purchases here, and report prospects for the summer as very flattering. Mr. Morrison purchased of Creighton & Munroe a bill amounting to $700, nearly all of quicksilver and copper, and ordered a much larger amount. He states that diggings which pay $2 and $3 per day are quite common, but this party only worked in the best eddy drifts, many of which are paying $25 per day, and few less than $15. There are now nearly two hundred men at work within a distance of a hundred miles up and down the river, all within a circle of a 175 miles from Corinne. Parties who lately reached Kelton from the diggings west of Morrison's location, report that they are averaging $10 per day. The principal man of that party went out last winter with nothing but his tools and returned with $600 in gold. The gold seems to be of a very fine variety, which our informant designates as 'flat gold,' but adds there are 'bed-rock and bar diggings.' He states that it is not more than two or three feet down to the bed rock, that the richest drift-sand is about six inches thick and requires the use of quicksilver."

We copy the annexed from the San Francisco Alta of the 13th: We have been shown a sample of very aromatic wood sent down from Alaska, which seems to be a species of yellow cedar, having a most pungent and singular odor, entirely different from anything we have ever encountered. The aromatic nature of the wood renders it extremely valuable for trunks to contain woolen clothing, furs, and such goods as are liable to destruction from moths, and admirably calculated for shelving for cloth and clothing stores. It is an excellent material for boat building also, inasmuch as the teredo or boring worm will not touch it, on the contrary turns up his sharp nose at it. As the wood is cheap and can be shipped here and sold at a moderate price, it will no doubt come into use. The sawdust and shavings if spread over the ground is death and destruction to ants and vermin, and would be a luxury to any dog for a bed, as it would leave him to sleep undisturbed by his natural enemy, the little industrious flea, which in California every man and woman pursueth. When in Alaska, Seward had several logs of it sent down, and thence East, to be used in his House. The wood is fine grain and admits of a high polish. A few hundred feet of the board were left at the yard of the Kimball Manufacturing Co., corner of Fourth and Bryant streets, and a sample is on exhibition at the Alta office.

A correspondent discoursing of Lake Tahoe, says: Standing in front of the Tahoe House, on a Summer morning, the scene is beautiful beyond conception. The broad lake, placid as a mirror, stretches far away into the dim distance, where the snow clad mountains rise, clearly and sharply defined against the deep blue sky, their rough sides seamed and scarred with a thousand wrinkles. To right and left a heavy growth of timber covers the sides of the lofty hills that hem in the lake, and descends to the verge of the water. The outlines of the mountains are reflected upon the calm surface of the lake with such distinctness that the unassisted eye seeks in vain to distinguish the point where the distant shore marks the cessation of shadow, and the beginning of substance. In the foreground a dozen boats dot the lake, lying as quietly on its clear bosom as though it were a sheet of glass, and they imbedded in its crystal surface. Scarcely a ripple on the pebbly beach below breaks the deep silence, and the only sounds heard are the calls of the boatmen to each other, as they busy themselves about their tackle on the shore, and the occasional hoarse croak of a dyspeptic frog, complaining of the warmth of the morning sun. The lake is thirty five miles in length by about fifteen in breadth. The water is so clear that objects on the bottom may be seen distinctly at a depth of from sixty to a hundred feet. The greatest depth has never yet been ascertained, but the late Surveyor General Houghton, when employed in settling the State line, took soundings to the depth of 1,416 feet, and, we believe, without finding bottom at that great depth. The lake never freezes, the water being kept constantly in motion by numerous springs which rise from the bottom. But the visitor must go on the water to realize the greatest charms of this beautiful place, and if he takes a trolling line with him the pleasure of his trip will be enhanced.

Sheriff Myers and Clackamas County.

OREGON CITY, May 24, 1870.

To all whom it may concern, and more particularly to the people of Clackamas county, Oregon: Many of you doubtless will remember that not a great while since the Oregon City Enterprise made a statement that John Myers, the present Sheriff of this, Clackamas county, had saved the county $1,000 in one year by his economy; but to set the matter right, I will state, on good authority, that John Myers is not the economist that the Enterprise claims; but on the contrary, Mr. Myers has charged Clackamas county every dollar that he could, and considerable more than the statutory fee bill allowed. The County Court cut his bills down on several occasions, and at other times disallowed the whole bill. So you will see by the above statement, that Mr. Myers deserves no credit for the fact that the taxpayers have not saved him several hundred dollars that he never earned. The Supreme Court of the State and the Honorable County Court of Clackamas county, deserve some of the praise that the Enterprise would claim for the present Sheriff—the Supreme Court by saying that no constructive mileage should be paid to any public officer, and the County Court for adopting that decision for its basis in regard to Sheriff's mileage, and by disclaiming several times other bills presented by Mr. Myers.

I should have answered that Enterprise article some time since, but had almost forgotten it, until called to my mind a day or two since.

OREGON CITY.

CURRENT NOTES.

We believe it is the philosophic Schlegel who says that unhappy people always seem to be engaged in "a contest with unseen powers." That is precisely what ails our friends the Canadians.

M. Gagne, a French political enthusiast, calls for a Plebiscitum of the world, to do away with all legislative bodies and give the people supreme control. He proposes to allow women to vote in the Plebiscitum he suggests.

Mrs. Woodhull never would have announced herself as candidate for President had she known it was a virtual acknowledgment that she was forty five years old. But "that card is boarded, and she can't take it back now.

The New York Star, seeking information, perpetrates this: "The women who have thronged the ladies' side of the court room during the McFarland defense are old, shrewish, angular, peaked—in appearance. Who are they, and where did they come from? What do they want, and can't they be satisfied without it?"

The late Tom Corwin, of Ohio, used to say that Governor Ritner, of Pennsylvania, told him that he intended, in his first message, to recommend the exclusion from the State of Yankee peddlers, because they sold nutmegs "made out of white pine and bass wood, which is good for nothing, for you know, everybody knows, dat the right kind of nutmegs is made out of sassafrax."

Some music teacher once wrote that "the art of playing a violin requires the nicest perception and the most sensibility of any art in the known world." Upon which an editor comments in the following manner: "The art of publishing a newspaper and making it pay, and at the same time making it please everybody, beats fiddling higher than a kite.

The inhabitants of Georgetown, Colorado, have held a meeting, and have solemnly resolved: 1. That the people of the Eastern States know nothing about Indians, or Indian warfare, or Indian provocation; 2, that Georgetown, Colorado, fully approves the "Indian policy" of Gen. Sheridan; 3, that "War to the knife is the only way of avenging the many depredations that are being daily committed on the border;" and 4, that "We, of the West, are judges of what is slaughter and useless bloodshed;" and the inhabitants of Georgetown, Colorado, are about right.

General Forrest was recently at Greensboro, North Carolina, seeking negro laborers for the railroad, the construction of which he is superintending. He wanted a thousand, but obtained only thirty. While there he pompously announced he would have no Richmond negroes; he had tried a hundred of them, and found them, without exception, genuine Radicals. His ill success in Greensboro would seem to indicate that Democratic colored laborers are scarce in the South. We are sorry for the General, but really don't see how he is to man his picks and shovels with an orthodox Democratic force, unless he shall relinquish entirely his idea of obtaining colored laborers, and apply, say in New York, for a different article.

The story of Helen, Cleopatra, and, without being profane, even of Mother Eve, is revived in the sequel to the Oneida disaster. Lady Temple turns out to be the cause of the misfortune to the ship's crew. Captain Eyre stood before the public as a cold-blooded, reckless monster, but yielding to the unwomanly demands of a frightened passenger, he now appears as a weak and cowardly creature, without ability to know his duty, and without dignity to assert it. His punishment should be commuted to a six-months wearing of Lady Temple's petticoat in the streets of London, and the lady should be ducked until she becomes perfectly familiar with water.

A Kansas paper thus sets forth the reasons why the National Capital should be located at Ft. Kearney: "The Valley of the Platte on the Fort Kearney military reservation is about ten miles wide—the river with the islands being about two miles wide. At Fort Kearney the islands of the Platte are very numerous, so numerous that they are called "The Thousand Islands." These islands are covered with fine growths of trees, consisting of cottonwood, cedar, willow, ash, elm, and other useful and ornamental shrubs, grapes, plums, and electarines, or buffalo berries, a tart fruit, about the size of a common currant, that grows there wild in great profusion. The gentle running waters of the Platte, the island groves, the level prairie lands of the valley, clothed with verdure, and the many peaked hills and bluffs skirting the valley, make a landscape scenery truly beautiful, and one well suited for the nation's capitol, productive alike of statesmanship and virtue.

The amenities of journalism, as between British and American papers, have never been more sweetly or touchingly exhibited that in the Pall Mall Gazette on Jenkins, in the matter of Prince Arthur's call at the White House. Referring to the account given by the Washington correspondent of a New York daily paper of the Prince in the outer hall about to depart and being "assisted into his overcoat by the President's valet, the Pall Mall Gazette says: "Can we imagine the possibility of any serious disagreement arising between two nations when the valet of the President of one helps a Prince of the Royal blood of the other into his overcoat? Never did valet perform a nobler mission than the Republican Jeames when he thus assisted a Prince; never did Prince honor himself more than in thus gracefully accepting such assistance. If the two, the Prince and the valet, could have looked beyond the mysterious film which shrouds our limited vision, they would have seen the Angel of Peace smiling through tears of joy at the scene in the President's vestibule—but not between husbands and fathers and brothers in oceans of blood diluted with the tears of the widow and the orphan. Only a struggle to get into an overcoat, one party playfully assisting the other—first the right arm and then the left. It is over now; but the buttons of that overcoat linked two mighty nations together, and who will dare to unstitch these links of love forged by the President's valet and our Arthur."

Here is a bit of the private history of Wendell Phillips. How uncertain life is! Persons who are always dying often live to a ripe old age, while those apparently in perfect health pass away suddenly. A remarkable instance of this, as I have heard, was the marriage of Wendell Phillips. The lady who is now his wife, was from her earliest years an ardent advocate of the anti slavery cause. Having a fortune in her own right, and being a confirmed invalid, she thought of devoting it to the purpose of emancipation; but knowing how money left in that way is likely to be wasted, she deemed it best to transfer it to an individual in whom she had entire faith. She had been for some time a sincere admirer of the distinguished orator, and had reason to believe that he had an affection for her. Thinking her end was drawing nigh, she sent for Phillips, and after unfolding her plan, told him that the best thing to do under the circumstances was for them to be married, that he would then have a right to her property, and could devote it to the cause they both so earnestly loved. He was much touched by her candor and generosity, and in a few days they were married. That was twenty years ago, and Mrs. Phillips, though very delicate, is still living, and bids fair to live for years to come. The pair are devotedly attached to each other, and what seems to have been merely a business affair, has produced all the happiness of the most romantic and poetic marriages. He was wealthy before his union, and since then his own and his wife's means have been liberally expended in the cause of humanity and freedom.

THE ONEIDA DISASTER. An American naval court at Yokohama has rendered a decision on the Oneida case, clearing the officers of the ill-fated ship from all charges of neglect or irresolution at the moment of the collision, and charging the whole enormous guilt of the disaster on Captain Eyre.

WEDNESDAY MORNING MAY [illegible] 1870

The Interest of the Working Classes

We cannot forbear to make some further mention of that portion of the able speech delivered by Mr Garfielde in this city on Monday evening when on the tariff [illegible] the vagaries and fallacies of the so-called free-trade movement [illegible]. In discussing the subject Mr Garfielde put the argument on its true ground [illegible] that a tariff discriminating in favor of American manufactures such a tariff as [illegible] is not wholly for the protection of property or capital but primarily and chiefly for the protection of labor. In our country labor is far better paid than in any other. Nowhere else can the workingman save so much over and above the cost of living. The advantage which our workingmen have in wages and profits over those of foreign countries is due mainly to the judicious tariff system which we possess and can be maintained only by the maintenance of that system. These facts Mr Garfielde enforced by cogent arguments and practical illustrations. His remarks were as well timed as they were convincing, and in the judgment of all who heard them constituted an effective answer to the current sentimental nonsense in favor of free trade.

The position most frequently taken in the new crusade against the protective system must fairly be called the sentimental position. We are told every day by those who assume to argue this subject that any artificial interference with natural laws as they are called is of itself absurd, and must of itself lead to failure, therefore they who advocate such an impost as will discriminate in favor of our own labor and our own manufactures are fighting against natural laws and must in the end be defeated. This sentimental argument if it is worth anything goes much beyond all questions of tariff and free trade. It requires an abandonment of all laws regulating trade in any of its departments. There must be no inspection; there must be no protection of trade marks, there must be no patent rights; there must be no private partnerships nor public corporations. Business and trade must be left wholly free, and suffer no restraint. Untrammeled by laws of any description men must be let alone to buy and sell in the cheapest market they can find. This is the drift of the sentimental argument, but what person of practical observation and ideas does not know that trading absolutely free is impossible in any community of men who live under laws?

As a theory, therefore, free trade fails to sustain itself by its own argument. And it is wholly a theory. It can have no practical application to the wants and condition of the country. As for the protective system which has prevailed at almost all times ever since we have had a Government, it is not a device to aid manufacturers merely, it is an instrument to be used in building up a grand diversified industry and providing for every class its appropriate field of labor. And there is no class who really have so much at stake in it as workingmen themselves.

A Little Monotonous

The prophets of evil continue their woful story. They will have it that the country is on the down grade and going to the bad with accelerated speed. Our liberties are to be swallowed up; we are to become a nation of slaves; the party in power is breaking down all the barriers that should protect constitutional liberty; the condition of the laboring classes is growing intolerable, and on every hand unmerciful disaster now follows fast, and is about to follow faster. Such is the burden of every speech and of every newspaper article. Well does the Corvallis Gazette exclaim, "Oh! the decrepit rhetoric, the old and weary denunciation, the faded picture of national disaster; when will it close? We have heard the Democracy so long upon these threadbare topics that there is no longer music in their laughter, force in their logic, or sting in their sarcasm."

No one but must remember that every succeeding measure of the last ten years has been heralded by these prophets of ill as the sure death of constitutional liberty. Good men, everywhere, they have told us, have despaired, time and again, of the Republic. Unless the people would relent and vote the Democratic party into power there was positively no hope. But the people have not done it and the country still manages somehow to postpone the day of its fall.

We appeal to Democratic journals and orators to know if they can't change this entertainment a little. Can they blame us for hinting that this gloomy song that has been sung or croaked without intermission or variation for the last ten years, is growing somewhat monotonous? If there were any prospect that the country would go to wrack, these woful strains might be better tolerated, but when we look around us and see that the people were never more content or the country more prosperous than now, their predictions of impending ruin do seem a little out of time.

The First National Debt

A correspondent at Eugene City wishes us to give an account of the manner in which our first national debt was funded and paid. To make such an account intelligible it may be well to give first a brief statement of the manner in which the debt was created.

At the beginning of the Revolution an attempt was made by Congress to carry on the war by issues of paper currency. Two hundred million dollars of bills were therefore emitted. By the year 1780 this currency had depreciated so much that Congress offered to receive gold and silver at the rate of forty for one in payment of quotas due from the several States. At the same time an attempt was made to call in and cancel the outstanding bills and for every twenty dollars so presented and cancelled, one dollar was to be issued in new tenor, bearing interest at five per cent and redeemable in gold within six years. The greater part of the old bills of credit were redeemed in this way and converted into bonds bearing interest and payable in coin. At the close of the war the interest bearing debt amounted to $44 000 000. Up to the year 1790 the debt continued to increase, when the funding act was passed.

At that time the Federal debt amounted to about $54 000 000. State debts incurred by the war, amounting to over $21 000 000 were assumed by the General Government and funded with it. This was the full amount of national and State indebtedness incurred in the war for independence, and it was funded and fully paid in coin. There is no precedent here for the present Democratic theory of repudiation by "equitable adjustment and compulsory disgorgement."

Rev Dr Newman of Washington is talked of for one of the vacant bishoprics of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Editorial Notes

The Herald says "Ben Holladay wants friendly legislation. [illegible] get it as easily as from a Democratic Legislature? Witness his success with the one that sat at Salem in 1868.

According to Democratic orators the Chinese will soon take forcible possession of this [illegible] mighty Chinese Empire. We hope that Judge [illegible] were really frightened.

Once more the Herald attempts to make [illegible] of the Republicans in the last Legislature the "great issue" of the campaign. [illegible] "great issue" but was choked off. Now what assurance can anybody have that the Albany paper will not skin out of this second "great issue" also. The Herald has to follow orders and should not venture to strike out on anything new.

We always know when the feeble Democratic organ of this place has exhausted its stock of editorial ideas, and begins to feel that it must get a new editor. On these occasions it invariably attributes editorial articles which appear in the OREGONIAN to Judge Dealy and confesses its inability to answer them. It is taking this course again so look out for another editorial failure, and another editorial change. Of course our readers know that Judge Dealy does not write and has not written a line for this paper. He has himself denied the false statement of the feeble organ often enough.

The Sacramento Reporter, the State organ of the California Democracy informs us that "the Democratic party in San Francisco is in a bad way. It is torn by dissensions and jealousies, and men who are unworthy to lead it have fastened themselves upon it. The last election indicated that there are thousands of men who last time grinned and voted the ticket who will not again permit their devotion to party to be made a commodity to be coined into twenty dollar pieces by low ward loafers, who care no more for political principle than they do for a mooted question in philology." This indicates a nice state of things among the Democrats of the metropolis. It is certainly a striking characterization of the leaders of the party and their mode of action.

Of course. The dispatches of a day or two since made mention of an amendment offered by Senator Sherman to the bill to enforce the 15th amendment, providing for safeguards at elections and to punish fraudulent voting. Senator Casserly Democrat of California charged that this was an attempt to whittle down Democratic votes. Of course it is. Nobody but knows the power exercised by the Democracy through fraudulent voting. Sherman cited the case of New York City, and Casserly knows well enough that fraudulent voting has kept the Democracy in power on the Pacific coast oft times when upon an honest poll they would have lost it. We of Oregon know well enough that fraudulent voting did hoist into office, two years ago, scores of Democrats who, upon a fair, square vote could never have been elected. To forbid fraudulent voting is to stab Democracy in a vital point, and nobody knows it better than Casserly.

The following is from the local column of the Herald:

The Commercial speaks of an individual who is going around the city begging for money and won't take work when it is offered him. The city is full of a set of worthless fellows who ought to be notified to leave within twenty four hours.

This is very good sense but it is rank treason to the Democratic party. Once more we call the attention of the Democratic leaders to the fact that there is a writer employed upon their organ who takes every opportunity to speak in this disrespectful way of "poor" men. It is his constant habit to attribute the "unfortunate condition" of a large class of "poor" people among us to their own worthlessness, instead of charging all their misfortunes on the "Radical party." We wonder that the principal editor of the Herald, who is certainly orthodox on this question should tolerate such a thing. He should know that it is an injury to "the party" to have any common sense in his paper.

Mr Nesmith's speech last evening at Oro Fino Hall was partly Democratic and partly otherwise. It can be summed up in a few words by saying that it was very much like Mr Nesmith [illegible] parts of it were full of personalities. Without this prominent feature it would not have been so characteristic. He got over the tough places in the Democratic platform as easily as possible and thought it would have been better for the party had it adopted no platform, except the simple formula "Resolved first, that the Republicans now have the offices, and resolved second that we want 'em." The other prominent features of the speech were the regular greenbacks and Chinamen.

The Chinese

A citizen of this place, himself a Democrat, sends us for publication the following pertinent and unanswerable questions addressed to Democratic demagogues, regarding the Chinese:

EDITOR OREGONIAN

With your permission I desire to ask the Democratic press and candidates of the day a few questions which they will be kind enough to answer in a way that may be understood by the people.

1st. By whom and what administrations were the first and several succeeding treaties made and ratified between the United States and the Empire of China?

2d. What was the design on the part of the United States in making such treaties and the provisions thereof?

3d. At what date was the greatest Chinese immigration and under whose administration?

4th. Has not the United States continuously since 1843 sought by treaty closer and more [illegible] commercial relations with the Empire of China?

5th. Who are the employers of Chinese labor—Is there any difference as to party?

6th. Will they present to the people (should the Chinese be [illegible]) [illegible] them [illegible] necessary?

7th. [illegible] of the Chinese from the United States and [illegible] the several [illegible] thousands of [illegible] now in China and protected under said treaties?

8th. Do the Democratic party desire to sever the commercial relations now existing between the United States and China [illegible] party [illegible] in building up.

9th. What evidence has the Democratic party that the Chinese desire or would accept the elective franchise?

OUTSIDER.

PORTLAND, May 24 1870.

Since the death of General Gray, private secretary to Queen Victoria it has transpired that Her Majesty takes a very active part in the business of every department of the Government and especially the War Office, the Admiralty, and the Poor Law Board. She writes out her views with remarkable fullness and the private secretary's business is to reduce her memoranda to official form.

A proposition in the Mississippi Legislature to remove Judge Shackleford for releasing E. M. Yerger on habeas corpus has developed the fact that Judge Shackleford is not legally in office, and was not when the writ was granted.

[illegible] The telegraph [illegible] from the [illegible] Georgia [illegible] accidental [illegible] but yet at the same [illegible] the reason that [illegible] the fact that [illegible] thereby [illegible] the accounts [illegible] altogether [illegible] had oil will [illegible] this topic [illegible] says. There [illegible] for illuminating [illegible] manufacturers to fuse all the gases [illegible] all by applying chemicals [illegible] that have ensued regardless of the [illegible] That a stringent law [illegible] but that all [illegible] under certain conditions [illegible] those who have had experience in the use [illegible] of those who use it require care on the part of the various explosions and so over gathered [illegible] constantly occurring [illegible] will soon see the most skeptical that negligence and carelessness are the cause of more explosions [illegible]. In the first place [illegible] lamps [illegible] and the wicks [illegible] even bad oil is consumed [illegible]. The cause of explosions [illegible] the collection in the [illegible] of gas or vapor which generated by heat from oil or gasoline takes fire and explodes the lamp. This never occurs when [illegible] lamp [illegible] full, and the wick [illegible] but no matter in which the gas can accumulate [illegible] will always ascend what the quantity [illegible] is the [illegible] when the lamp is partly filled. It is the heat that draws off the vapor from the oil and if the wick is [illegible] it has no means of escape from the chamber of the lamp. If a lamp burns clear and bright there is no danger of explosion, but if it gives a bad light or smokes it should be immediately extinguished. A recent explosion was reported to have occurred by extinguishing a lamp by blowing down the chimney. This is a common practice and [illegible] accompanied by no danger with a full lamp [illegible] danger with a lamp partly filled or in bad working condition. The flame is blown down into the chamber of the lamp, which may be charged with gas, and an explosion is always hazarded with a badly trimmed lamp. There is no doubt that an abundance of bad oil is manufactured, but what we mean to urge upon those who use the oil is that even good oil may explode by negligence in its use. Neither kerosene nor gasoline will explode in liquid form but only when subjected to a sufficient degree of heat to throw off a vapor which accumulates in the unfilled portion of the lamp and if the flame of the wick does not burn clear and bright it has no means of escape, and an explosion is always risked whenever a lamp is burned in such condition.

PASSENGERS COMING. The side-wheel steamer California sailed from San Francisco yesterday at noon for this port with passengers as telegraphed to the Commercial as follows: G Giles A Smith and family, J C Lewis, G Flanders, S Wood, J Bass, G H Armstrong, E Rector, Maj S A Foster and family, W Lapeus and wife, S B Parrish, C Paddock and family, A Walker and family, Mrs Pond, M Eckel, L Descombs, Mrs Bormington, B Bormington, J K Robbins and wife, A H Riley and wife, C Wagner, N A Hiostel, D Cullenap, E McCollough, O N Denny, Iver W H Stoy, Miss A Cannelsy, E [illegible] and wife, Mrs Baldwin, Mrs T [illegible], Miss L Watkins, Mrs S A Griffith, D W Martin, W [illegible], D Cantwell, J W Griffith, R Saunders, J P Bragg and wife, Mrs B H Rodgers, Wm Grubbs and family, J S Lee and family, Miss E M Bliss, L Markham and wife, Mrs M E Tracy and two daughters, W H Moore, J C McCloud, Mrs M Caldwell and two infants, Miss M M Nichols, Mrs Matty Robbins, E Norton and wife, Rev A W Beeney and two children, L E Grim, Julius Stein, E S Fowler and wife, Fang Chong, M Lareigne and son, M W Hosford and family, John Carter and family, C Gifford and wife, E K Straight, H Rose, B Allen, John Farren and family, Rev J Bowersax and family, Miss Levison, J E Hallett, T J Milsbowden, J R Boyle, B Kuspers, E P Reynolds, J Cole and child, L M Ringer and family, C S Mason and wife, R L Galbraith, D Morgan, Mrs M E Cardiff, John B Smith, 15 others in cabin 1 5 in steerage.

PIGEONS.—Pigeons are not recognized as game under any law of the United States. No State enactments have ever been made to protect pigeons that we know of and our experience in hunting the migratory pigeon of America in Oregon teaches us that no legislative enactment is necessary to protect the pigeon. They are perfectly able to protect themselves. They fly high, lodge in quiet and perch most patiently around and about a pea patch in some obscure place until the hunter is out of sight. They abound in this part of the State just now but very few are to be seen on our tables and the above remarks will explain why. It is all very fine to have tame pigeons go from a bag to be shot on the wing, because they come back if you don't kill them, but those birds of similar species which it actually strains the gun to shoot from the tall pines, never come to you again if you miss 'em. If you are fortunate as to get a mess though they are always excellent.

NEW ROUTE TO SALT RIVER.—Several of the Democratic candidates for office in this county left on Monday morning on an expedition, ostensibly to canvass the county and discuss political issues with their opponents, but as they have signally failed thus far to make a single point, in reality they go to discover a shorter route to Salt River. It is said that they will bring the field notes in with them and have an accurate chart of the route traced. The ship Office-seeker will be in readiness to receive them and provisions for thirty days on the 6th day of June, and will have accommodations for all the defeated candidates [illegible] State and county ticket. After [illegible] charged at Port [illegible] man will engage [illegible] pursuit and if possible [illegible] reputation as respectable citizens.

PLAZA MUSIC. It was a good stroke of policy to change the time of the plaza concert to 6 30 in the evening as that [illegible] a very pleasant one for a promenade at this season of the year. The 23d Infantry Band will play the following pieces this evening:

FREQUENT LOSS OF LIFE FROM KEROSENE.—The telegraphic dispatches yesterday contain the announcement of further cases of life and property lost from the explosion of a kerosene lamp. Scarcely a day that we open contains similar accounts. There may be in this something akin to the alarming contagion of accidents of a similar nature, with which the country has been startled from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Maine to Oregon, within two or three years past, such as the deaths from shooting, suicide, etc. [illegible] deaths from shooting this cannot be so, for [illegible] of the same time there are hundreds of lamp explosions that are not noted in the papers, from accidents that no personal injury was occasioned. The impression is g[illegible] generally [illegible] the [illegible] of these accidents that the fault is [illegible] in the character of the oil, and that [illegible] oil will explode and good oil will not. Upon [illegible] the Baltimore American of late date [illegible] There is no portion of crude petroleum fit for illuminating purposes of lighter specific gravity than sixty, yet it is the custom of oil manufacturers to fuse all the gasoline possible into the [illegible] by applying chemicals to increase the fire test [illegible] of the consequences that have ensued [illegible] stringent law is needed there is no doubt that all or nearly all coal oil is explosive under certain conditions, is equally well known to those who have had experience in its use. It requires the part of those who use it [illegible] investigation of the various explosions that are constantly occurring [illegible] the most skeptical that negligence [illegible] are the cause of more explosions than the bad quality of the oil. In the first place the lamps ought to be filled every day and the wicks kept [illegible]. A full lamp, with even bad oil, is comparatively safe from explosion. The cause of explosion very many times is the collection in the lamp of gas or vapor which is generated by heat [illegible] of gasoline, takes fire and explodes the [illegible]. This never occurs when the lamp is full [illegible] the wick is clean, as there is better [illegible] [illegible] the gas can accumulate but no matter [illegible] quality of the oil is, it will always some [illegible] when the lamp is partly filled. It is the [illegible] draws off the vapor from the oil, and [illegible] wick is choked it has no means of escape [illegible] chamber of the lamp. If a lamp burner [illegible] bright, there is no danger of explosion, [illegible] a bad light or smokes it should be [illegible] extinguished. A recent explosion [illegible] to have occurred by extinguishing a [illegible] down the chimney. This is a [illegible], and it is accompanied by no [illegible] a full lamp, but it is always danger [illegible] partly filled or in bad working [illegible]. The flame is blown down into the [illegible] lamp which may be charged with [illegible] explosion is always hazarded with a [illegible] lamp. There is no doubt that an [illegible] bad oil is manufactured, but what [illegible] upon those who use the oil is [illegible] may explode by negligence in [illegible] coal oil, benzine or gasoline will [illegible] liquid form, but only when subjected [illegible] degree of heat to throw off a vapor [illegible] in the unfilled portion of the [illegible] flame of the wick does not burn [illegible], it has no means of escape, and [illegible] always risked whenever a lamp is [illegible].

LOCAL REVIEW.—Mrs F F Victor, author of the book "River of the West," left the Dalles yesterday for Walla Walla.

Weinhard & Co have left a keg of genuine old lager beer at this office. It has been in their cellar in store for years.

We are informed that Jay Cooke & Co. of Philadelphia, Pa., have purchased Castle Rock on the Columbia river, above Vancouver.

The Jewish steamer California leaves this port for San Francisco on the 1st. The propeller of the same name will leave for Victoria on the 4th of June.

One of the heavy teams belonging to the P. D. & H. Co. was frightened yesterday by a falling [illegible] and ran away but fortunately no damage was done, other than what might result to a heavy freight team running at full speed for a long distance.

The Republicans propose to hold a grand mass meeting at the Camp Ground, in Powell's Valley, on next Monday, 30th inst. Speaking will commence at [illegible] P. M. Gov. Gibbs, J. F. Caples, Esq., and others, are announced to address the meeting.

THE HOTEL COMPANY.—A meeting of the stockholders of the Willamette Hotel Company was held last evening, and organized by the selection of Hon E. D. Shattuck President and Hon W. W. Page Secretary. The meeting then proceeded to elect five Directors as follows: W. S. Ladd, Moses Sellar, Walter Moffett, Richard A. White and E. D. Shattuck. The stockholders directed the hotel known as White's brick building, on Morrison and Front streets, be furnished and opened as soon as practicable. The Directors qualified and adjourned to meet again this morning at 9 o'clock.

A BURLESQUE.—The efforts of certain Democrats in this canvass to prove their love for the soldier borders on the burlesque very heavily, and somehow calls to memory the story told of a Democratic candidate in New Hampshire two years ago, when the veteran soldier role was played there for political effect, and he excused himself from dancing "because his legs were so full of bullet holes."

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.—May 24, 1870.

J. A. Davenport vs J. R. Lamb et al; cross bill; on motion of complainant, ordered that [illegible] Semple be made a party defendant in this suit.

J. R. Lamb et al vs L. H. Wakefield et al; cause came on for trial; Hill & Page for complainant; Shattuck for defendant.

FIREMAN'S RELIEF SOCIETY.—An organization is being perfected in this city among the firemen, which is a very commendable movement. It is for the benefit of the firemen who may become members. The purpose is to get 100 members before organizing. Mr. C. W. Reynard has the list.

SPIRITUALISTS ARRIVED.—The forehead clique of Washington Territory, under the leadership of Dennison and Blinn, arrived in this city last evening, and were taken under the loft wing of the Democracy. They have about completed their fizzle on the Columbia.

ACCEPTS.—Rev. J. H. Wilbur has concluded to accept the Agency of the Simcoe Indians, and will leave this morning for the purpose of making some preliminary engagements, but will be back here again before entering fully upon the duties of the office.

ACCIDENT.—A Chinaman in the employ of McCracken, Merrill & Co. fell from the pully wheel through the hatchways to the cellar in the bonded warehouse yesterday and was very badly injured. The fall was fully thirty feet.

PICNIC.—A number of ladies and gentlemen families, met on the East Portland Park picnic grounds yesterday and enjoyed a very pleasant day in real picnic style. They visited the Asylum after lunch.

ASTORIA FLOUNDERS.—The steamer Oliopogou arrived from Astoria last evening. A portion of her freight consisted of flounders caught off the Columbia River bar, the first shipment of the season.

THE ALASKA MAILS.—Postmaster General Creswell has an advertisement in another column, asking proposals for carrying the mails to Alaska from Port Townsend.

GEN. SALOMON.—Gen. Salomon will speak at the Court House this evening.

OREGON.

Measles is prevalent at the Dalles.

Agents of the Government are buying cavalry horses in Lane county.

Mr Litchfield has discovered a coal bank near the Grand Ronde Indian Agency.

Jesse Applegate is surveying a railroad route between Umpqua and Rogue River Valley.

An Umpqua paper says card playing has been introduced into one of the public schools of Douglas county.

The Dallas Republican says: The hay crop this summer will be unusually heavy, probably better than for several years past.

One John Welch, for an assault upon a woman at Canyonville, was sentenced last week to thirty dollars' worth of county jail.

Col. Kelly is perambulating Wasco county trying to rally votes for the repudiationists. Humason has gone to Grant county on a similar errand.

The Ensign says: Mr. Ashford Clayton, of Calapooya Valley, was thrown from his horse one day last week and seriously bruised. Several ribs were broken, yet at last accounts he was doing well and likely to recover from his injuries.

The Mountaineer of yesterday says: The Colby bridge on John Day river, on the Canyon City road, was washed away a few days ago by high water. Dodd's loaded ox team was on the road at the time. We have not learned the amount of damage sustained.

The Eugene Journal of the 21st says: This week Messrs. G. H. Hadley and H. C. Owen sold to some Germans, who came out from Chicago to purchase homes for themselves and friends, a tract of 4,200 acres of land a few miles from Eugene City, in this county. The price received was $7 per acre, amounting to nearly $30,000. The purchasers started back to Chicago immediately, and will return during the summer and settle on the lands with two or three hundred industrious Germans. We understand that every one of them are Republicans.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

[From the Walla Walla Union, May 21.]

Last Tuesday afternoon, L. A. Mullen, Esq., while passing up Main street near J. Bauer's cigar store, accidently shot himself in the left leg with a derringer he was carrying in his pocket. The ball entered on the inside of the leg near the thigh, and ranging down passed through the leg behind the bone, coming out above the knee. The wound, though not a dangerous, is a painful one and will lay Mr. Mullen up for some time.

The boys have evidently all gone to sleep. Last Saturday evening, Messrs. Langford and Simms were advertised to speak at Bank Exchange Hall to the Democracy, but after the Colonel had persistently rung his bell and announced "speaking by two able-bodied men to-night," the audience failed to appear. Langford got mad and early in the week he, with his understood speech, started for Wallula in company with E. B. Whitman, Esq.

James A. Perkins, Esq., returned home yesterday after an extended trip through Oregon and the Sound country. He comes home better satisfied with the grasshopper country than ever. Mr. Perkins says that after conversations with men who have the means of knowing he is convinced that Garfielde will receive five hundred majority or more over both his opponents in the Sound. This is owing principally to Mr. Garfielde's personal popularity on the Sound, to the able and thorough manner in which he has performed the duties of Delegate, and partially to the split in the Democratic party which has caused them to run two candidates for Delegate. Mr. Perkins met a large number of immigrants during his trip who stated that they had been induced to come to Washington Territory by reading Mr. Garfielde's speech on the resources of the Territory.

THE TAILOR'S ALL THINGS.—The transition from one season to another has a world of effect upon the styles of clothing people wear, but Time which proves all things has proved that Kohn & Fishel are ever ready and up to the season with every grade of goods necessary to please the most fastidious. Please call and examine their latest importations.

PERSONAL.—That young man whose father is a School Teacher can learn something to his advantage by calling at the City Surveyor's office.

Lesurier, the man who was arrested for shouting "Bayonet" in the face of the Emperor Napoleon at a review, has written a pert little letter pleading his own insanity. This is an improvement upon the favor to America's defense for our criminals have the grace to let somebody else urge the plea for them.

Mrs Grundy, of the [illegible], who is acknowledged to be good authority in these matters, says Miss Blanche Butler has bidden farewell to Washington [illegible] return not winter as a Senator's wife. The wedding will take place sooner in the summer at her home in Lowell, Mass.

Help for the Miserable.

Now [illegible] that before [illegible] dyspeptic [illegible] sad [illegible] it is pitiful to see. No wonder that the miserable victim of indigestion is fretful, irritable and unsocial. Whoever can bear the pangs of this tormenting complaint cheerfully is [illegible] than unruffled temper is little short of a saint. But why should human fortitude continue to be thus severely tried when an absolute specific for the disease is always at hand? Everywhere within the limits of civilization this heaven-sent Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is obtainable, and the history of the first case of dyspepsia in which it has been administered in vain has yet to be written. The sickness at the stomach, the sense of weakness and stupor, the feeling of emptiness and hollowness before eating and of oppression afterwards, the fluttering of the pulse, the intense nervous irritation, the morbid indisposition to exertion, the weariness of life and indifference to its pleasures, which are among the symptoms of the disease in its chronic form, are rapidly ameliorated by the tonic operation of this palatable vegetable restorative, which seems to renovate and quicken all the dormant forces of the system and rouse the mind from the apathy and gloom inseparable from a derangement of the digestive and secretive functions. In ordinary cases a few weeks suffices to complete the cure, but when the disease is complicated, as it often is, with torpidity of the liver, severe constipation, impurity of the blood, and a sluggish circulation, a longer time may be required. Persevere, however, and the result is certain. An encouraging improvement will be perceptible from day to day, and the convalescent, knowing and feeling that he or she is on the high road to health, will await the happy issue with comparative patience.

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 635 AND 637 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public in selling him their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud deceives nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

By sending the money you save the ink;
No longer [illegible] by your children or wife—
We [illegible] all of us [illegible] satisfied for life.

Horrible Death of a Lunatic—The Most Shocking Suicide on Record

[illegible] as one which occurred yesterday at the [illegible] pital [illegible] way at the [illegible] of a [illegible] journal. The one alluded to [illegible] en from its tragic finale contains [illegible] of a peculiarly sad [illegible]. About a month ago a young man not more than [illegible] years of age named Jo[illegible] Morgan, whose father resides at [illegible] Henry county M[illegible] came to Kirkwood. He was [illegible] possessing [illegible] appearance [illegible] were so strange [illegible] that his mind was shattered. His eccentricities [illegible] and the poor fellow wandered about the streets evidently unconscious of his own movements or of the [illegible] singular conduct was attracting universal attention.

At one time he would shriek as though in great bodily pain, at another time become perfectly quiet and lie down in the streets or wherever he happened to be. [illegible] he would pause in the midst of a group of boys, scores of whom impelled by a [illegible] to witness his freaks almost constantly followed him, and make wild incoherent religious or political harangues. Finally one day in the presence of a large assemblage he stripped himself of clothing and when perfectly nude ran down one of the streets shouting that the devil wanted his eyes.

After this most extraordinary demonstration it was resolved to place him where he could harm neither himself nor others. He was arrested and sent to the St Louis City Hospital for medical treatment. His conduct there varied from that at Kirkwood only in the increase in violence and frequency of his paroxysms. He was closely watched and the attendant physicians thought it not improbable that an improvement might be wrought in his condition.

His conduct was wholly inoffensive. Not even children feared to approach him. There was nothing to indicate malice toward any one. Sometime he would converse and act quite rationally. But it was impossible to divest his mind of the belief that the devil desired his eyes. Occasionally when, in the hight of one of his paroxysms he doubtless thought the Evil one literally present, he would cover his eyes with his hands and beg piteously for protection. Assurances that he should not be harmed were of little avail. The fantasy had complete possession of him. A horrid specter it followed him day and night. It seemed to paralyze his whole being. Nothing could break the terrible spell which, while he seemed to shrink from it, yet appeared to fascinate and lure him on to destruction.

Yesterday the end came. Poor Morgan had been for nearly an hour slowly pacing the floor. His head leaned forward on his breast and he was so quiet that those present began to feel more hopeful of his ultimate recovery. He had spoken but little and his words were properly chosen. Suddenly he started every body by shouting "The devil must have my eyes!" And before he could be restrained he with his fingers tore both eyes from their sockets, and threw them on the floor. The horrible act was scarcely the work of a moment and when the persons present realized what had occured, the maniac sightless, his face crimson with the blood which flowed in torrents from the ghastly sockets and was already forming puddles on the floor, stood before them quiet as though nothing had happened. Medical attendance was at once summoned, but without avail. He lingered a few hours, and the death came an [illegible] of sorrow.

Success of the Suez Canal

[From the Chicago Republican.]

The Suez canal, it appears from the last report of M Lesseps, bids fair to realize all reasonable expectations. It has been so far completed that quite an active trade has already sought this channel of transportation in preference to doubling the Cape. The immense saving of time and distance between Europe and India cannot fail to make it in time and distance as much superior to the old route as is a journey by express train in these respects, to the old fashioned "stage" mode of travel. Although much distrust was at first felt in the feasibility of the route, and the completion of the canal all things have progressed so finely as to inspire the most perfect confidence in this now celebrated thoroughfare. The canal is adapted for the largest vessels, several heavily laden having already passed through. The Brazilian of the Liverpool, Havre and Bombay Company 1,902 tons, not long since made her return voyage through the canal, carrying to England 13,000 bales of cotton and 3,000 of wool. The India made the voyage from London to [illegible] in forty-eight days. The Europe made her outward and return voyage from Marseilles to Bombay, including loading and unloading in seventy days. From Nov 17 to March 15, 209 ships with a tonnage of 140,631 tons besides 600 small craft passed through the canal. The nationalities of these vessels have been as follows: 80 English, 44 French, 23 Egyptian, 18 Austrian, 14 Italian, 11 Russian, and the remainder German, Spanish, Portuguese, and Turkish. Of these, 200 have been steamers, and only nine sailing vessels. Thirty-three were vessels of war. The growth of the [illegible] may be estimated by the following record. In December, but 9 vessels, in January, 16, in February 33, in March 52. The increase in receipts is no less satisfactory. Receipts in December, 48,426 fr; January, 107,490 fr; February, 249,060 fr; March, 450,000 fr. To this last amount is to be added about 50,000 fr, for fares from travel. M Lesseps in his report says that an iron steamship may built for this traffic which will carry 3,000 tons of freight from London to Bombay, and bring back the same amount—all in seventy days. The freight at 100 francs per ton will leave the shipper a handsome profit. A sailing vessel for the same voyage require eight months or more, and charges 120 francs per ton. M Lesseps estimates that as soon as commercial movements are regularly established, the receipts from the canal cannot be less than 60,000,000 francs, by the passing through of at least 6,000,000 tons.

The Brain only a Machine.—The following is from a discourse recently read by the celebrated physicist, M Mayer, before the Scientific Reunion of Insbruck. It was translated for the Bowdoin Scientific Review:

"For a long time we have generally supposed that the nervous substance, and especially the brain matter contained free phosphorus, and the imagination attributed to this free phosphorus an important part in intellectual operations. But new and more exact researches in chemistry have proved that no living organ and of course the brain contains free phosphorus. If on one side similar illusions must vanish before the data of an exact science, it is none the less true nevertheless, that there are continually produced in the living brain material modifications which are as it were the consequence of a sort of molecular activity and that the intellectual acts of the individual are intimately connected with this matter [illegible] action. But it is a great error to identify these two activities which proceed parallel to each other. An illustration will render my thought clearer. We know that there can be no telegraphic communication without a concomitant chemical action. But what the telegraph says, the contents of the dispatch could never be regarded as a function of this electro-chemical action. That is still truer for the brain and thought. The brain is only the machine, it is not the thought. Intelligence which is not a part of [illegible] cannot be submitted to the investigations of the physicist and the anatomist."

Geology of Brazil.—Prof C F Hartt of Cornell University proposes to make a third trip to Brazil during the summer. Several students will accompany him. He proposes to study especially the Amazon [illegible]. Doubts have been expressed by several [illegible] logists in regard to Prof Agassiz's theory of a great Amazonian glacier.

It is eminently safe for a Democratic editor to abuse General Grant. The exercise is a good thing to keep his powers of invective in practice. Grant pictured as a failure in a Democratic paper is reflected as a success in the public mirror; and for every essay of partisan hate, to drag him down he steadily rises in the estimation of true patriots.

RELIGIOUS ITEMS

The [illegible] Presbytery of the Cumberland [illegible] church will commence its annual [illegible] Eugene on Thursday May 2[illegible].

At the Theological Institute at Hartford, Con., on the 21st April My[illegible] Le[illegible] of W[illegible] Walla W[illegible] was ordained [illegible].

[illegible]

The 12th May was very generally observed [illegible] New York [illegible] as a day of fasting [illegible] and prayer [illegible] of three [illegible] Th[illegible] mpson and [illegible] Dr Mc[illegible] At several of the churches [illegible] in the afternoon [illegible] addresses and preaching [illegible] the occasion.

At the Methodist Conference (South) held at Memphis on the 11th May the Committee to whom was referred the papers with reference to the proposed union between the Methodist Church North and South submitted a report with a number of resolutions reviewing the history of the attempt to bring about a union and expressing doubts whether the distinguished Commission from the Church North were fully clothed with authority to treat with this Conference under the resolution of the General Conference held in Chicago in May 1868, and even if so it is the judgment of this Conference that the true interests of the Church of Christ requires and demands our separate and distinct organization. The resolutions tender high regard to Bishops Janes and Harris the Northern Commissioners and express the hope that the day may come when proper Christian sentiment and fraternal relations between the great branches of the Northern and Southern Methodists may be permanently established. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

There is a lady in Minnesota who needs looking after by the Woman Suffrage Apostles. She recently wrote a communication to the St Paul [illegible] emphatically opposing the extension of suffrage to women, and wrought up to a pitch of political frenzy, thus broke out into verse:

> The vote [illegible] all[illegible]
> Is not the [illegible]
> Its charms are [illegible]
> I'd rather far be free
> But there's a [illegible]
> A lady [illegible]
> That vote [illegible]
> And that's [illegible] for me
> Oh! that's [illegible]

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

The week [illegible] opened upon a moderately active [illegible] in nearly all departments of trade [illegible] to the gratification of the business community. [illegible] trade may now [illegible] satisfactory [illegible] most of the purchasers are of small lots of goods [illegible] aggregate [illegible] very well in comparison [illegible] last year or with the preceding [illegible]. We [illegible] among dry goods dealers [illegible] all other items [illegible] consequence of the receipt of news [illegible] San Francisco though [illegible] are not prepared to state the [illegible] figures; Sugars—all fine grades one cent advance.

Produce—There continues to be something of a [illegible] the San Francisco market [illegible] is a corresponding depression here. We quote as before but the market is excessively dull [illegible] largely nominal. A considerable [illegible] of Bacon came [illegible] market to-day from the Willamette valley [illegible] offered at [illegible] figures without finding a buyer.

The Mountaineer has information that the miners of Grant county are doing unusually well this year and already large amounts of gold dust have been shipped away. The crops are doing well and the farmers anticipate a bountiful harvest.

The Walla Walla Union of the 21st says: The telegraph line is completed as far as the Touchet. It would have been finished to this place last night if the poles had been on the ground. But it seems that the contractor for the poles at this end of the line, who has until the 24th of the month in which to fill his contract, had not yet delivered any of the poles, and those engaged in putting up the line had worked faster than was expected. We are assured that the line will be completed next week. The completion of the line will be of great advantage to the business men and the O S N Co will deserve the thanks and patronage for its construction.
